

VANDERLIP PASSES AWAY

Kelvin Cox Vanderlip, 44, Southland financier, land developer and civic leader, died yesterday at his Palos Verdes home after a long illness. Mr. Vanderlip was president of the old Palos Verdes corporation, a company that was responsible for the development of the peninsula region. For his services to Holland relief in World War II he was made a Knight of Oranje-Nassau by the Netherlands government in 1943. He was a member of many clubs and aided numerous charitable and civic groups. Private memorial services will be conducted at the Wayfarers Chapel in Palos Verdes on Friday.

Swedish Research Center Buys Electronic Computer

Scientist, Dr. Waloddi Weibull recently discussed design features of an ALWAC electronic digital computer with his son, Bengt, who purchased the machine for shipment to Sweden. European aircraft, industrial, engineering, business firms and universities will use this ALWAC computer, manufactured by Logistics Research, Inc., of Redondo Beach, for problem solving and scientific research. Dr. Weibull, for many years professor of applied physics at the Royal University of Stockholm, and now U.S. Air Force consultant, has been visiting U.S. aircraft centers to exchange scientific information and confer with leading aeronautical engineering specialists. Bengt Weibull is general manager of the Autronic Computing Center in Stockholm where the ALWAC computer will be installed.
